NO ARRESTS MADE FOR DYNAMITING

Milwaukee Police, However, Have Clue to Men Responsible for Explosion of Coal Crane.

[BY UNITED PRESS.] Milwaukee, March 17.—No arrests had been made by the police at three o'clock today in connection with the explosion of the huge coal crane of the Milwaukee Western Fuel company here last night. Chief of Police Jensen said today, however, that the department was in possession of the description of men who are thought to be responsible and arrests may be made before night.

William E. E. Reddin, business agent for the United and Structural Iron Workers' Union, No. 8, local, declared today that since the charge had been made that organized labor was responsible for the explosion, the union would likely offer a reward for the arrest of the guilty persons and would assist the police in every way.

The discovery of an immense axle of the wrecked hoist illustrated how the concrete which filled the steel tube had been drilled out and dynamite substituted. This made a very little cannon of the axle and increased the force of the explosion.

MAIL CLENKS MAY JOIN FEDERATION

American Federation of Labor Working for Unionization of Entire Railway Mail Service Force.

Washington, March 17.—The present progress of organization undertaken by the American Federation of Labor for the unionization of the entire railway postal service will necessitate the issuance of over fifty chapters to the different chapters. The Postoffice department, especially the Postmaster General, does not look upon this movement of the railway clerks with favor.

President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor, however, declared that he will take every possible step in the service under the protection of the Labor Federation and that it makes no difference whether the department will take. Secretary Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, says that more than twenty-five chapters have already been issued and as many more will soon be granted.

The Federation makes no secret of the fact that it intends to give aid in every manner possible to the clerks. If necessary, and according to the opinion of the labor officials it may be they will call a strike. Such a strike, tying up the mails, would be one of the most disastrous ever known in this country, it is said.

ADMIRAL DEWEY FOR ARBITRATION PLAN AMONG NATIONS

Agrees With View of Englishman But Does Not Think United States Should Be Leader.

[BY UNITED PRESS.]

Washington, D. C., March 17.—Admiral of the United States navy, George Dewey, in a statement declares he is in sympathy with the arbitration views of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, leading authority of the British navy, who was moved to speak by the suggestion of President Taft in favor of arbitration, and who said that the United States was best qualified to lead the way. Dewey, however, said he was not sanguine of that realization would be many years to come.

Admiral Dewey also made it clear that he does not believe the United States should advance the question of disarmament.

"Arbitration is making progress in the settlement of international questions," said Dewey, "and I am for it heart and soul. I don't believe, however, that in our day we shall see substantial peace established on that basis."

"The policy we should pursue, has, I think, been best expressed by General J. Warren Keffer of Ohio, when he said:

"In time of peace, prepare to maintain peace."

"There is nothing of war or anything opposed to arbitration in that sentiment."

Dewey referred to Beresford's statement that "the United States is absolutely invulnerable" as a compliment to the country and added:

"There always have been people in this country ready to criticize the United States and army in magazine articles but that was the case too at the beginning of the Civil war."

When asked about the reported danger of Japan seizing the Pacific coast through a sudden attack, the admiral said:

"It would take Japan a year to bring 100,000 men over, but there is no reason for them to be brought. The question of immigration appears to have been settled to the general satisfaction of both nations and there are no other questions at issue. I regret to see that some men in Japan seek to feel that their country did not get its deserts in the treaty."

LA FOLLETTE ON MEXICAN MATTER

WISCONSIN SENATOR IN CURRENT ISSUE OF HIS MAGAZINE DEMANDS EXPLANATION FOR TROOP MOVEMENT.

DID TAFT USURP POWER?

Legality of Executive Sending Troops to Frontier Without Consent of Congress Questioned—Wall Street Implicated.

[BY UNITED PRESS.] Madison, Wis., March 17.—Linking the action of the present administration in connection with the Mexican trouble and troop mobilization on the Mexican frontier with Wall street and demanding explanation with the statement that the whole affair seems incredible, Senator La Follette in the current issue of his magazine prints the following editorial given here in part:

Why war?

Why is the President making troops on the Mexican border?

What reason has he for making a warlike demonstration which is sounding an alarm to every quarter of the world?

What canon of international law can be invoked to justify rushing a formidable army equipped for battle to the very boundary line of a country at peace with our government?

What precedent of intervention can he offer as an excuse for meddling in the internal affairs of Mexico at this time?

Can he forecast the complications with foreign powers which may result?

Congress should require the President to give a strict accounting for this extraordinary use of the army and navy. The whole affair seems incredible.

It is unprecedented. In a time of profound peace the President hurries the army and navy to the borders of a friendly nation. A quarter of the standing army is put in the field with equipment, ammunition and supplies as for active war. The start was made under the thin pretense that it was a military "maneuver." This is quickly laid aside and correspondents traveling with the President on his southern jaunt announce that the purpose is "to stamp out the Mexican revolution" and if necessary to this end to "intervene"—that is to say, to invade this, our neighboring republic.

The constitution vests in the congress the right to make war, and rightly so.

The people pay the bills and give their lives. It is right that they should be consulted.

The time is past—at least, we thought the time had passed—when wars were made by kings to serve their selfish purposes.

But we are told that this is not war. It is "intervention." Never in our history have we done this thing before.

Our troubles with Spain are fresh in the minds of the people.

Taft had before him the example of a line of Presidents from Grant to McKinley who for a period of nearly thirty years exhausted every resource of statesmanship and diplomacy to avoid intervention. Their wisdom and foresight should have admonished him to pause and consider the consequences likely to result from his acts as he rushed his orders that Monday night to mobilize an army on the Mexican frontier and then hurried away to Augusta to play golf.

His illustrious predecessors knew that intervention spelled war. They knew that "war is hell." In the case of Cuba more than two hundred thousand helpless natives were killed in the long struggle for liberty and still intervention was not invoked. Our commerce with the island, valued at more than a hundred million annually, was totally destroyed, and intervention was not suggested. American citizens in Cuba were imprisoned and mistreated in violation of treaty and international rights and still the President did not call for intervention.

Not until the United States battleship Maine was blown up, killing 266 men and officers—and even then, not until congress authorized intervention—did President McKinley order the American fleet to Havana.

Did President Taft's affable hobnobbing with President Diaz last autumn open a new chapter in American history?

Is it because Henry W. Taft, brother of the President, is a director in the Standard Oil Company and an English corporation the largest single financial interest in Mexico?

Is it because J. P. Morgan & company or Kuhn, Loeb & company or Spayer & company, are the fiscal agents of the bonds issued by the Diaz government, and heavy holders in securities and concessions obtained from Dictator Diaz?

Is it to be found in former law associations between Henry W. Taft and Attorney General Wickham which did business under the name of Strong, Caldwell & Co., a firm now represented heavily in Mexican interest?

Is there any connection between the warlike demonstration against Mexico and recent conferences in New York participated in by such men as the American minister to Mexico, Henry Lane Wilson, Jose Limantour, the fiscal agent of Diaz and Morgan?

Is it possible that the army and navy of the United States are being used as a showpiece of a gigantic Wall street gamble?

Have we come to a point that patriotism, valor and life and death are openly made the pawns of Wall street politicians to be moved about as suits the great profits of Wall street's masters or pirates?

The whole affair is monstrous and beyond belief.

LOCAL CASES NOT TO BE AFFECTED

Matter Between City and Gas and Water Companies Not Touched By Supreme Court Decision In La Crosse Case.
Although the recent decision of the supreme court in the case of the city of La Crosse against the La Crosse Gas and Electric company contained some important items with regard to the various cities in the state, in the opinion of City Attorney Maxfield, it will in no way affect the case of this city and the water and gas companies now before the rate commission.
In the La Crosse case the court held that the company could not be forced to turn over two per cent. of its gross earnings to the city after the company had surrendered its franchise and accepted the permit. This will have a great deal to do with similar cases now in the courts and before the rate commission as regards other cities but it could not be said that it would hold in the Janesville instance. Mr. Maxfield stated that the local gas company is working under a franchise given them by the state and not by the city. In the case of the water company they were operating under a franchise with the people of the city or the consumer. At the same time they had entered into a contract with the city or more properly with the common council which was purely in the nature of a contract and separate and distinct from the franchise.
The decision of the rate commission in regard to the local water and gas companies is now pending.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY OBSERVED IN CITY

Local Irishmen and Descendants Honored the Memory of the Patron Saint of Emerald Isle.
All loyal sons of the Emerald Isle and their descendants are today celebrating St. Patrick's day, in honor of the patron saint of Ireland. The demonstration in this city was not of an extensive form, but shamrocks, pinwheels, flags of Ireland, green ribbons and even green-colored flowers were worn by those for whom the day is set aside. The main feature of the observance of the day was the celebration of high mass this morning, with a short address to the large congregation assembled there by Dean E. K. Kelly, R. Kelly of South Beloit was to have delivered the sermon but was unable to be present on account of illness. Members of the local division of the Ancient Order of Hibernians attended the service in a body, marching from their hall to the church. An entertainment will be given this evening in the Myers opera house by the ladies' auxiliary to the A. O. H.

MANY PAINTINGS ON EXHIBITION TODAY

Excellent Collection of Pictures Are Shown by Art League at the Congregational Church.
Those who are in the least interested in works of art should take advantage of the opportunity offered in this city at the present time in the shape of an art exhibit under the auspices of the Art League, now open at the Congregational church. Some forty pictures by Illinois artists are on exhibition and the doors are thrown open to the public, no admission being charged.
The majority of the pictures are in oil, but there are also some very beautiful water colors as well as a few etchings. A great variety of subject is manifested in the different works and the pictures are well worth seeing, even if one is not an expert judge of this line. "In the Study," an oil painting by Harriet Blackstone, valued at $200, is particularly fine, it being the highest priced painting in the lot. Others are the "People in the Woods" by Duggreen; "Hobby" by Wado; and the "Rippling Stream" by Schuch.
The local society are considering buying one of the collection and will probably decide on the painting to be shown tomorrow afternoon, at which time a meeting will be held. At this time a paper will be read on "Artists of Illinois," written by Mrs. Herman J. Hall of Chicago.

FIRE ORDINANCE TO BE STRENGTHENED

City Attorney is Drafting New Ordinance Relating to the Fire Precautions of Local Theaters.
In order that nothing may be left undone to make the fire precautions in this city what they should be, City Attorney Maxfield is engaged in drafting a new ordinance calling for the proper arrangement and condition of doors in the public amusement places. This move follows an investigation of the theaters and other places by Chief Kleh this winter and also a request of the city council.
All of the doors of any theatre or public amusement hall are supposed to open outwardly and not only that, but are supposed to be unlocked. The new ordinance will in all probability be modeled closely after the state law on this subject. It would then provide for the keeping of red lights over the exits and prohibit the sale of standing room.
INTERESTING PICTURES OF RECENT EXPLOSION

At Pleasant Prairie Are On Exhibition in the Window of the Smith Drug Company.
Pictures taken following the mammoth explosion of the Dupont powder mills at Pleasant Prairie, Wis., are now on exhibition in a window at the Smith Drug company. The photographs, which were sent to Ben Smith by a friend living in Racine, are views showing the havoc wrought by the explosion. One shows debris piled in a field seven miles from Pleasant Prairie. A barn, situated a mile and a half away, which was practically demolished is the subject of another. A third is of a boarding-house one mile away which was badly damaged and in which about forty persons were injured more or less seriously.

SPECIAL MEETING TO DISCUSS BILLS

Superintendents of the Janesville Factories Will Arrange for Lobbying Against Obnoxious Measures.
There will be a special meeting of the superintendents of the different factories in the city this evening at the office of the Lay Waterman Shoe company at which the manufacturers are also asked to be present. The question of bills now pending before the legislature which are dangerous to manufacturing industries will be discussed and plans made to send a delegation to Madison to protest against their passage.

Manager Myers has arranged for the annual appearance of "Uncle Josh Sprucey," the funny old farmer, with his hand and children to be teaching to play "pat" for tomorrow evening at the Myers theatre. This show is a favorite with Janesville audiences and will doubtless draw a large house.

BRIEF PERSONAL MENTION.

Threw Babies to Explorers.
Many strange adventures were encountered by Noyd Alexander in his journeyings in Africa. In one familiar village young girls were forced to the party for food. Elsewhere the people, fleeing before him, throw down babies in the hope of staying their hunger and so stopping the white men's advance.

Foolishness.
"Yes," sadly mused the little man with the I've-been-there-and-tried-it air, "there is only one man who is a bigger fool than the fool that rocks the boat—and he's the one that tries to get back at his mother-in-law!"—American Spectator.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Milton, March 17.—Milton college lost the last game of the season on the local floor last night to Ripon college by the score of 29 to 16. The game was clean, fast, and in reality much more evenly contested than the score indicates.

Much credit is due the guards for both teams in the way they followed their men. Beauchamp was the chief scorer for Ripon and Potter for Milton. Line-up:

Milton: North, Jr.; Potter, Jr.; Nelson, Jr.; Ernst, Jr.; Pierce, Jr.

Ripon: Davis, Pease, Jr.; Wood, Jr.; Everhard, Jr.; Worthing, Davis, Jr.; Schwartz, Jr.

Field goals: Pierce (2), Ernst (1), Davis (2), Wood (2), Beauchamp (1), Pease (1), Free throw: Milton, 10; Ripon, 8. Fouls: Milton, 21; Ripon, 20.

Referer: Smith of Milwaukee.

High School Game.

The Milton high school has easily defeated the Milton Junction high school team in the college "gym" as a preliminary to the Milton-Ripon college game. Burdick was easily the best man on the floor, making eight points. The work of the Milton guards was up to their usual standard.

Summary of game:

Milton: Burdick, Jr.; Miller, Shumway, Jr.; Freeborn, Jr.; Berden, Jr.; Miller, Glynn, Jr.

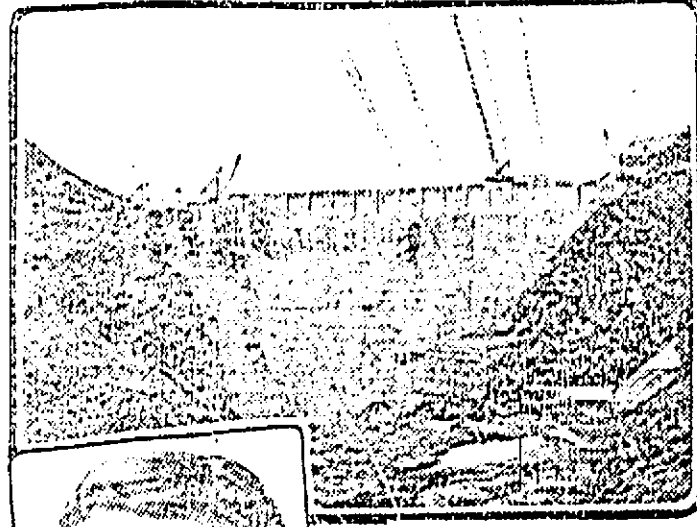

Milton Junction: Owen, Jr.; West, Jr.; Stone, Jr.; Hall, Jr.; Brown, Jr.

Tipping Evil in Mexico.

The tip question has become such a nuisance in Mexico city that some time ago the government of the federal district announced that cabmen, caraballeros, mecapaleros, etc., who accepted tips, would be discharged.

Unfortunately the public prefers to tip all these people rather than to hear themselves called by the far from sweet names that such people apply to non-tipping persons.

Hunger for Religion.

No matter how intellectual or practical men may be, they hunger for religion, for a theory of life and for a proper understanding of the relationship which should obtain between them and their Maker. Their nature is responsible for this hunger, and it can not be ignored any more than the hunger of the stomach for food or that of the mind for knowledge.

Rather Like a Reflection.

An unfortunate author writes to the London Westminster Gazette: "Prof. Chandler, I understand, has just written a book on the literature of roguery. In a letter accompanying the prospectus of the work the publisher writes to me as follows: 'We think you may be interested to know that references are made to your name in these columns.' I do not object, but I think it might have been put differently."

You may have the piano delivered at once or later—just as you wish.

The weekly payments of 1 dollar and 25 cents do not necessarily begin until the piano is delivered, though you may, if you wish, keep up your weekly payments until you have your piano delivered if you do not want your piano until later.

10. If the piano is satisfactory after 30 days' use, the club member has eleven more months in which to satisfy himself as to the character of the piano. MILITIA OFFICERS.
While Janesville has no militia company at the present time still there are many members of the former guards, veterans of the Spanish-American war, and even veterans of the Civil war, that are much interested in the demonstration on the Mexican frontier by the division of the United States army. The report from Washington that certain militia officers from the various states have been invited to go to Texas to witness these maneuvers leads to the question whether the war or the line officers will be selected.

In making selections for service in the Texas maneuvers from the list of militia officers who have volunteered, it looks as if the war department might help to increase the efficiency of the rank and file of the national guard by remembering the distinction between officers of the line and staff officers. In the organized militia, as in the regular army, the duties of these two classes of officers differ widely. It is the regimental or company officers who come into direct contact with the enlisted men, who are personally acquainted with all the details of practice drills, who give the commands in drill movements and at the annual musters, and whose knowledge of military tactics has most immediate effect on the general efficiency of the state regiments.

On the other hand, the staff officers of the militia are detailed ordinarily to perform special duties of a very different character. A staff officer may have from one to four details that remove his attention from actual military affairs. In this way he is often likely to be out of touch with the routine matters, a knowledge of which is requisite in order to maintain high standards in company, battalion and regimental drills. At musters he usually serves at headquarters. The line officer and the staff officer may be equally important in their relation to the service, and for certain duties the latter should be given the preference as a matter of course. But in the coming maneuvers it looks as if the officer of the line would be the one to learn lessons calculated to benefit the militiamen at home, because through him the knowledge gained in Texas will be disseminated. He is the executive whose experience in military tactics makes directly for the efficiency of the country's national guard.

WHAT IS THE TROUBLE?
During the past few weeks there has been a demonstration that cannot fail to have its moral effect upon the city as a whole, relative to the present ordinance which governs the liquor traffic, particularly the Sunday closing ordinance. Acting under what he supposed to be the law, Chief of Police Appleby has done his duty in endeavoring to compel certain retail liquor dealers to live up to the prescribed regulations of their traffic. In three cases the test has proved that the ordinance is inadequate. Chief Appleby is not to blame and should be given due credit for his efforts in behalf of law and order and the support of the citizens as a whole. The fault apparently lies with the ordinance. If the ordinance is faulty do away with it, and enact a new one with strict regulations, which give the offenders no loophole for escape or pass an ordinance which permits the saloons to remain open Sunday. Let them keep their front door unlocked, their curtains up and let them do business in a legitimate manner. Madison has such a ruling and there is less drunkenness on the streets of that city on Sunday than in Janesville. As it now stands the man who wants his drink on Sunday slips up a back alley, sneaks into a saloon by the rear or side entrance and, in hiding, like a criminal, slips his chosen beverage. During the past two years it has been easy for the initiated to get their liquor when all saloons are supposed to be closed. Chief Appleby has tried to keep the city in order, has tried his men on the streets, watchful, but thus far his efforts to enforce the laws have been unsuccessful, and now authorities have declared the ordinance inadequate for the purposes it was designed. There are men who have obeyed the law, men who are glad of the opportunity to close the saloons on Sunday and rest themselves, but it is not fair to them to compel them to do so while others operate and are immune from more than the inconvenience of appearing in court and being cleared of any charge brought. It is up to the council to act and while the suggestion of permitting the saloons to remain open seven days in the week may shock some of the citizens, still it is a condition that confronts Janesville at the present time unless the council takes some radical action. Do not blame the police; they have only done their duty, but they are not properly armed and equipped for the conflict.

Today is St. Patrick's day and the memory of the patron saint of Ireland is kept green by the bits of color of that hue that are to be seen on every side. Once a year this demonstration helps alive the history and greatness of the race that has changed the face of the maps of the world.

Hardly anybody seems to realize that next Tuesday is primary day and that election is but a few weeks off. Think of a spring campaign and lack of real genuine interest shown in a selection of city officers for a city the size of Janesville, and wonder at it and the cause.

The dove of peace has evidently gone into winter quarters along the Texas border line and remarked that there was no safe place for a bird of his kind nature, from the accounts of battles that continue to come in from the southern side of the Rio Grande.

Women can not stand prosperity when it comes to politics. The action of the suffragists at Madison demonstrates the folly of giving them a vote on matters of real importance when they will fight over the social ambitions of one of their paid lobbyists.

Up at Madison the legislature is kept busy with the bills that are being enacted and the bills that are not being enacted. When they get all through there will be lots of work for the lawyers and courts for several years to come.

The roller skating craze is at its height in Janesville at present. With the laying of the concrete sidewalks all over the city an excellent playground for the younger generation has been created. It is healthful if not overdone.

Roosevelt is now in the grand southwest and ready to meet all comers. He has lived through the Rough Riders' banquet and now is ready to open the great Roosevelt irrigation project with a formal address.

That powder explosion at Pleasant Prairie has been credited with more trouble than even the appearance of the Halley comet was supposed to have caused on its visit last year.

This is the busy Lenten period when card games and parties are eschewed by the devout, who plan instead for the coming summer and the Easter gowns and bonnets.

Those geese that sailed north so merrily a few days ago have decided that as weather forecasters they are not in it and they are sorry now they started on the migration.

March certainly has made a record thus far for costly fires all over the country. The loss of life has been large and the loss of property will reach into the millions.

THE ANSWER.
Here is a wonderful thing.

On Jan. 4 the news came from London and from New York that the seismograph had recorded an earthquake somewhere on the globe.

On Jan. 5 the newspapers of the world told of an earthquake that shook down the roofs of houses and the tents of tribesmen in far-off Turkey.

Science has so bound the world together that a tremor in one part is instantly noted and then reported inside of twenty-four hours.

Ours is a conscious world. The seismograph is a symbol of that new world consciousness which records every tremor of suffering or of pleasure. We feel world emotions. Every shock runs along a thousand nerves from land to land.

"No man liveth to himself." Humanity is one.

And this oneness of humanity must be reckoned with.

When the nobility of France refused to recognize the oneness of his blood with that of the starving poor the guillotine was answered by the guillotine.

When the kinship is denied there is always the answer, though not always in the shedding of blood.

On being asked to do something to relieve the condition of the poor in his neighborhood a haughty rich man said: "It will do nothing for those cattle."

The answer? One of the "cattle" was the rich man's only son and dragged him with him down to the depths.

The world is kin.

Smile! never carried away two lovely little girls in a Boston mansion. The cause was traced to a pile of rugs sent from the mansion to a sweatshop to be cleaned. A sweatshop girl had slept on the rugs.

Humanity is one.

If the avenue refuses to recognize the shams as kin to it the poison of the shams will creep up into the avenue.

If capital refuses oneness to labor the refusal will be answered by strikes or worse.

If the nations lift up hands against nations the answer will be war and corruption.

The record of the seismograph which tells of the tremors that shake humanity must be heeded or the answer will come.

Letting Off.
"Do you see that fellow over there getting 'KID the empire'?" "Cut his heart out!" and "The bloody robbery?" "Of course I see him and hear him too."

"Well, he's one of the worst henpecked men in town. He comes out here every afternoon to let off steam."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

President Department of Astronomy,

IN LUTHER BURBANK'S COUNTRY.
Luther Burbank, the horticultural wizard, carries on his marvellous work in a California locality called the North of Bay Counties. This name is given because Marin, Napa, Sonoma, Lake and Mendocino counties lie immediately north of San Francisco bay. Ten thousand square miles are included in this territory, a larger area than that of many an eastern state. Mendocino county alone has about half the area of Massachusetts, yet only 25,000 population.

Burbank's intricacies of transforming plants and flowers and creating new varieties of vegetables and fruits are performed in this territory in preference to much boasted southern California. Where he produced the wonderberry and the combination tomato and potato, he finds himself in a region whose products include cherries, pears, plums, peaches, plums, apricots, nectarines, apples, figs, grapes, almonds, walnuts, olives, strawberries, potatoes, oats, barley, hay, blackberries, huckleberries, melons, corn and all kinds of vegetables. If a land originally so prolific would not respond to the touch of Burbank's wand, where on earth would such a land be found?

Santa Rosa, in Sonoma county, is where Mr. Burbank has established his wonderful and scientific industry, but thirty or forty miles north of the extremity of San Francisco bay.

The region is remarkable not alone for its agricultural and horticultural productiveness, but also for its mineral wealth and timber yield. Some of the largest quicksilver mines in the world are found here; magnesite and magnesite are found in large quantities, limestone is unlimited, and Napa has an immense cement plant.

Mineral springs abound and, of course, have given rise to pleasure and health resorts. The Napa soda springs are perhaps the most famous, but there are also a Grubbs and a Sutter. The scenery is superb, including ocean, lakes, mountains, valleys and forests.

The Evolution of a Booster Bill

IV.—How Bill Came to Advertise

Bill Blue refused to advertise. Said he, "These measly paper guys will never get my hard-earned cash." AND "THEY'LL BILK ME."

So very "near" was old Bill Blue to pinching a dollar bill in two. He pinched his trade in two likewise. This opened poor old William's eyes.

He smiled a bit and said: "By gee! I think I've backed up the wrong tree. To cure a business on the blink. Prescribe a dose of printer's ink."

Bill saw the "print." "A page," he said. The printer man almost fell dead. Now there is cash in William's till. "THE AD. FOR MINE!" says "Dooster Bill."

"Pa," asked little Willie, "is it right to say 'Congressman Melthoff made a witty extemporaneous speech' or 'a witty extemporaneous speech'?" "To be perfectly correct," replied the wise father, "you'd better stick in 'seemingly' somewhere there."

Not Quite.
"Has your college son decided on a career as yet?"

"Not quite. He is somewhat undecided as regards medicine, law, newspaper work, civil engineering, dentistry, literature, mercantile life, banking, politics and nothing."

Those Dreadful Suspicions

"I saw in the paper today," the regular customer remarked as he leaned back in order to help the lady barber lower the chair, "that four men had been arrested for being implicated in the murder over on Jefferson street, and later they were all released with no proof against them."

"Yes," the lady barber said, twisting the curl above her ear. "Now, ain't that awful? Four families put in suspense because some police sergeant has a suspicion." She tucked a towel neatly into the neckband of the regular customer's neck.

"If the police force did less suspecting and more running there'd be a greater number of guilty parties seeing daylight in strips," the lady barber remarked derisively.

"But they always have to suspect somebody before they arrest him," the regular customer remonstrated.

The lady barber put a stop to further argument on his part by building a pyramid of her lather around his mouth, which, experience had shown him, would fall in if he dared to speak.

"Suspicion," she remarked, "is an awful disease. The germs of it are in everybody. All it needs is an idea to put them at work tearing down character and sending happiness to an early death."

The regular customer snorted helplessly.

"Suspicion is the devil's favorite vegetable. He plants it in people's minds, and every year gets a crop of sin off of it," the lady barber continued.

"Now, there was Susie and her husband—happened just last week. Not the marriage, but the suspicion, and if it hadn't been for the blessed fact that Susie's mother had more sense in a minute than Susie had—"

The regular customer had been fidgeting uneasily. Now, he asked a question that filled his mouth with lather.

"Who is Susie?" he sputtered.

"Susie," the lady barber said, severely, "is the sweetest bit of silliness that ever refused a dozen rich men and married a poor one. Susie is my best friend. Before Susie was married she—"

"But what did Susie suspect?"

"She suspected her husband, and the poor boy wouldn't do wrong for anything in the world, and Susie knew it. But that just shows how suspicion is. If it once gets a start on anybody's mind it's as certain to cause trouble as—as a mouse in a barber shop."

"A lady barber shop you mean," the regular customer bombarded, relieved at last of the lather.

"Do you want a close shave?" the lady barber demanded.

"I'll take mine well done, please, but tell me about Susie."

"Oh, yes. You see, Susie's husband works in a gent's furnishing store. He is a clerk. They've been married about two months, and never had a cross word. He adores her from the toes of her shoes to the top curve of her hat, and she worships the very counter he works behind. Hot or cold towel?"

"Hot—and Susie?"

"Her boy got a day off last week and went down to Bean lake, fishing. That morning after he had gone a man came to the house and told Susie that a robbery had been discovered at the furnishing store—that somebody had been stealing ties and hosiery and other stuff for several weeks, and that it was very important that he should speak to John, and where was he. So right there the devil planted suspicion in Susie's poor head and she answered up that she didn't know."

"After the man was gone she ran upstairs and looked all over John's clothes. There were an awful lot of new ones. She thought it over, and then carried them down to the collar. She was going to save her guilty husband if she could. Of course he was giddy. She never doubted that a minute by this time. When they came to search the house she was determined—Wet or dry?"

"Wet—no, give me a tonic, and go on with Susie."

"—they should find nothing to convict him. So she started a fire in the furnace. She never had started the fire before, and it took her about an hour. It was one of those days when the mercury stood around 95, and by the time the girl had John's and by the time she was about clothes all burned, she was about dead with exhaustion. But she burned them—every scrap."

"And in the meantime she had locked all the doors before she went to bed. So she started a fire in the furnace. She never had started the fire before, and it took her about an hour. It was one of those days when the mercury stood around 95, and by the time the girl had John's and by the time she was about clothes all burned, she was about dead with exhaustion. But she burned them—every scrap."

"But how did it end?"

"Susie's mother took a hand and sent her back to him. He wore old ties for a while and—"

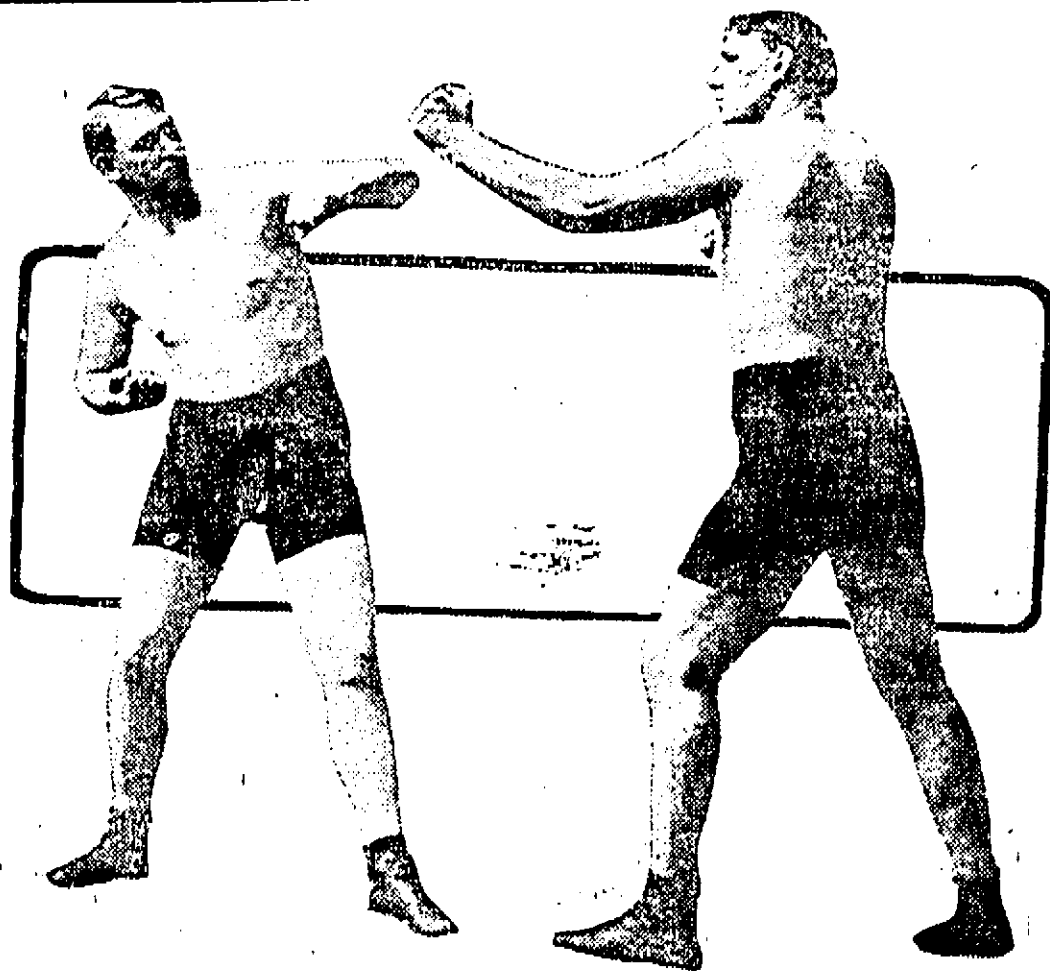

"But about the robbery? Was he—"

"Next gentleman, please!"

MONROE WILL HAVE MANY IMPROVEMENTS

Brick Pavement Will Be Laid On North Jefferson Street and Electric Light Clusters For Streets Are Proposed.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Monroe, March 17.—Brick pavement has been decided upon for North Jefferson street, the paving controversy having finally been settled by the city council. Property owners on the street were with the exception of four, in favor of having the street paved with brick, and a petition to that effect was laid before the council. The lowest bid for the work will be accepted and the contract awarded at the next regular meeting of aldermen. The council encourages the placing of beautiful electric light clusters about the city and an ordinance regulating the placing of the same has been proposed.

Missouri for Income Tax.

Jefferson City, Mo., March 17.—The house of the general assembly of Missouri passed the senate resolution ratifying the income tax amendment to the constitution of the United States.

Make your advertising a steady diet and not a banquet.

HE TOLD HER

Nobody could ever have taken him for anything but a most eminently nice young man, and evidently the girl sitting opposite him at the cafe table thought so emphatically.

The waiter had just departed and the young man moved uneasily in his seat. Then he coughed behind his hand and carefully changed the salt shaker to a spot one inch further north.

"It's a lovely day, isn't it?" he said abruptly.

The young woman looked a trifle puzzled. "Why, yes," she said, doubtfully, "only it's evening, you know!"

"I meant evening," he amended hastily. "So sunshiny—I mean there are so many stars!"

The young man opened her eyes wider and regarded him curiously. Then she caught her breath, for his certainty was most uncomfortably confused. The symptoms appeared to arouse hope within her heart. She smiled back at him soothingly and patted her hair.

"Yes, it's fine out," she agreed. "I enjoyed the play so much! I thought the man who took the leading part was splendid! Do you know, he reminded me of you?"

"Did he?" asked the young man, nervously. "How odd! He was so blond!"

"It wasn't so much his looks as his splendid character," explained the young woman. "That is so much more than mere looks!"

"Oh, I'm nothing out of the ordinary!" protested the young man, hastily. He changed the salt collar back to where it had been in the first place and fingered the menu card.

"You were saying something," reminded the young woman, sweetly.

The young man jumped nervously and gave her a hurried glance. "Was I?" he murmured. "Oh, yes! I believe I was! It's so hard to—er—put things!"

The young woman smiled at him again and then laughed ripplingly. "Oh, my!" she said. "As if you could find anything like that difficult! You are always so capable and strong and self-possessed!"

"Do you think so?" asked the young man in a gratified tone. "Now, it's awfully good of you, Miss Rose, to think that! Awfully!"

"Not a bit!" said the young woman, shaking her head and giving him a deep look. "I mean it!"

The young man coughed. "It's nice of you," he repeated. "People are so different, though—you never can tell, no matter how—er—long you've known a person how he—she's going to take a thing! You never can tell!"

"I don't agree with you!" protested the young woman, with great seriousness.

A "Rosary of Friends."

A new and original texture of the "growing head mania" is found in the "Rosary of Friends" that promises, and, indeed, already exhibits such wealth of artistically expressed affection. This "rosary" is to be built of a head or two from each of the many friends whom the builder "really loves" and who really love her, such heads being contributed at will and of any preferred kind or variety. Each given head is separated from its neighbor by two lovely odorous brown beads made of the petals of roses. Already, though but recently started, a charming rosary shows highly interesting and varied specimens. An ancient Egyptian scarab, a tallman from the entablature, an exquisite head of turquoise matrix, a nugget of real gold presumably mined by the owner, a tiny bronze image of Daruma, with gold eyes and silver teeth; these, with odd heads from Venice, China and other picturesque and romantic localities, comprise the most notable specimens so far struck.

Chivalrous Scholar.

A pupil had been naughty all day and the teacher sent him a note ordering him to stay after school. The boy wrote an answer on his slate saying: "Dear teacher: Except the ones with pleasure. Always keep me engaged with the ladies. Will be at the tristing place at 4 p. m."

Its Status.

"Do you think the real-life drama is the ripe fruit of the times?"

"I think it is rotten."

MILWAUKEE SHAKEN BY BOMB

Two Policemen Are Fatally Injured and Property Valued at $15,000 Is Ruined by Dynamite.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—Two policemen were probably fatally injured, property valued at $150,000 was ruined and the entire city shaken shortly after midnight when the new steel coal hoist just completed at the yards of the Milwaukee Western Fuel company was dynamited. There were two separate explosions. Policemen rushed to investigate the first, and while they were near the wrecked crane a second explosion brought the framework down about their heads. The company which installed the hoist was Heyl-Patterson of Pittsburgh, which lost a hoist in an identical manner at Duluth a few months ago. The company runs a non-union shop.

More Warehouses.
Many men are mere warehouses full of merchandise—the head, the heart, are stuffed with goods. . . . There are apartments in their souls which were once tenanted by taste, and love and joy, and worship, but they are all deserted now, and the rooms are filled with earthly and material things. —Henry Ward Beecher.

Use for Old Tin.
Old tin is put to a variety of uses. For instance cheap trunks are covered with tin from discarded tin cans and other utensils, the tin having been first cut to desired size and straightened and smoothed out. There are also concerns in different parts of the country which make a business of removing the tin coating from old tin cans and scrap tin.

How to Handle a Hog.
Scratch his back and tickle him under the belly. You can lead him anywhere. This applies figuratively speaking—aw, well to the human who we use to the members of the drove that had the seven devils. Hogs have sense, and don't you forget it. An old razzar-back sow has more brains than all the cattle and horses on the plantation.

Rules for Success.
In order to succeed you must be sure of two things—you must look for work, and not be always looking over the edge of it, wanting your play to begin; you must not be ashamed of your work and wanting to be doing something else. —George Eliot.

Maple Syrup.
Maple syrup which has fermented and become sour can be freshened by heating to the boiling point and adding a little soda. Stir thoroughly, then skim.

New Methods of Welding.
By the autogenous method two sheets of metal may be welded by placing their edges and following the seam with a blowpipe. "Seamless" copper and sheet vessels may be made by forming the body and ends separately and joining the joints with the blowpipe.

A Poor Corner.
When a girl puts a man off by saying she will keep a little place in a corner of her heart for him, he may be sure that it is a corner for which she doesn't expect to have much use.

LANDS FOR FARMS, GRAZING, INVESTMENT

LAND, the source of the world's food supply and of the world's constant increase in the value of land, the unearned increment, has been, directly or indirectly, the basis of nearly all the great fortunes of history. An important fact to consider when purchasing land is the TITLE and OWNERSHIP of land.

Persian Newspapers.
Printing types are not used for Persian newspapers. The "copy" is given to an expert penman, who writes it out neatly. The various articles are then arranged in page form, and lithography multiplies the copies.

MAKE NOTABLE TEST SALFOUR BACKS GREY

DREADNOUGHT WILL ATTEMPT TO SINK WARSHIP TEXAS.

Sheep, Cats and Pigs to Remain on Board to Prove Effectiveness of Projectiles.

Washington, March 17.—The most notable experiment of the navy department will take place on Monday in Lower Chesapeake bay when the modern battleship New Hampshire will endeavor to sink the San Marcos under which name the old battleship Texas now masquerades.

The Texas is to be stationed 10,000 to 12,000 yards from the New Hampshire. The Texas is to be anchored in shoal water. The New Hampshire will use her four 12-inch guns against the broadside of the Texas. The shells are to be loaded so that there will be two great tests, the ability of the New Hampshire's guns to penetrate into the interior of the Texas and the effect of an explosion inside.

The armor belt of the Texas is 12 inches thick at the water line and her citadel armor is also 12 inches thick. In order to make the tests equivalent to battle conditions, the New Hampshire, while firing, is to steam past the Texas at battle speed. This, of course, makes the problem one of extreme difficulty, but in the opinion of the naval officials it is well worth the money and possible cost.

The possible cost, however, may run up into scores of thousands of dollars. It is not proposed to take the guns of the Texas off while she is undergoing her martyrdom for the sake of naval science. The contract price for her hull and machinery was $2,500,000.

The guns may be destroyed, or some of them, and the "target" may be sunk.

The only living witnesses on board the Texas will be some sheep, cats, pigs and other animals which are to prove the extent of the shocks in the turret or in the interior wherever a 12-inch shell may explode.

ROBIN HITS PROMINENT MEN

Former Banker Says New York Chamberlain, Among Others, Urged Him Into Trouble.

New York, March 17.—Joseph G. Robin held the grand jury spellbound for two hours while he made revelations regarding the financial trickery into which he had been drawn through his friendship with the defunct Carnegie Trust company and in which he declared that prominent city and state officials were involved.

Throughout his recital the name of Charles Hiram Hyde, city chamberlain, who handles some of money amounting $200,000 a year, was frequently mentioned. He told the story of a night conference with that official and others wherein the witness had been urged to come to the aid of the Carnegie Trust company.

Big promises were made him, he declared, if he did so, and he was empowered to repeat these promises to the others who might be in a position to give the Carnegie crowd the money they needed.

MRS. MELBER FOUND GUILTY

Second Degree Verdict Is Rendered Against Woman Charged With Poisoning Her Little Boy.

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Edith Melber, charged with the murder of her four-year-old son last January, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree, after being out two hours and nineteen minutes.

Justice Howard immediately sentenced the woman to an indeterminate term of not less than twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor at Auburn prison, with life the maximum.

10,000 WOMEN REGISTERED

Unexpectedly Large Number Attributed to Activity of Club Members of City.

Milwaukee, March 17.—Ten thousand women, it is estimated, are registered in Milwaukee for the school board election on April 1. The unexpectedly large registration is attributed to the energy displayed by club women. In every ward of the city members of women's clubs urged their sisters to go to the polls and make themselves eligible to vote.

Boisy. "How busy that man is." "Yes, he used to be a conductor on a pay-as-you-enter car and he got that way from ordering people to move up forward."

OPPOSITION LEADER INDORSES TAFT'S PEACE PLAN.

John Dillon Voices Protest, Asserts Nation's Struggle for Liberty Would Be Worsened.

London, March 17.—Sir Edward Grey's endorsement of President Taft's arbitration suggestion was seconded in the house of commons by A. J. Balfour, the leader of the opposition.

The latter was cheered when he declared he saw no difficulty in the way of carrying out an arrangement between this country and the United States.

"The late government did its best to carry out an arbitration treaty with the United States," said Mr. Balfour. "I hope there is a general feeling in America that the time has come when these two great countries may at last be bound by treaty to refer to some arbitration tribunal all questions which could possibly produce anything so horrible as a war between them."

"The secretary for foreign affairs will find no heartier friends of such a policy than those in the Unionist party."

The first break in the chorus of approval which greeted Sir Edward Grey's proposals came from John Dillon, member for East Mayo.

There was, he said, nothing different in the Grey proposals from what appeared in the treaty Lord Salisbury tried to negotiate with the United States, except the inclusion of an offensive, defensive and coercive alliance against all other powers.

Mr. Dillon doubted gravely whether this would be found to be of advantage. The proposals made no provision for small nationalities struggling against injustice or seeking freedom.

BODY FOUND IN AN OIL CAR

Discovery Made at Station Near Chicago—Victim Well Dressed, but Without Identification Marks.

Chicago, March 17.—Evidence of a murder was brought to light with the finding of the body of a young and well-dressed man in an empty oil car at Ingleson, a small station on the Chicago Great Western, about thirty miles from Chicago.

The man apparently was killed by a blow on the head. A gold watch, 35 cents in change, and a copy of the Minneapolis Journal of February 14 was found in the pockets. All marks which might aid identification had been removed. The man apparently had been dead two or three weeks.

The body is that of a man between twenty-five and thirty years of age, 5 feet 9½ inches tall. The hair and mustache were dark brown and the eyes dark blue.

The installment plan. An American wag and an Irishman were talking of their vocal powers. Said the American: "The first time I sang they showered me with bouquets."

"Faith!" said the Irishman, "the first time I sang 'twas in an open-air concert, and they presented me with a house. But, begorra, it was a brick at a time!"—Tit-Bits.

Grief. "Ah, little boy, I'm glad you didn't laugh when that poor man slipped on a banana and fell down." "Hoo-hoo-hoo! It was my father!" "Cheer up, little man—he doesn't look as if he were badly hurt." "I don't care—hoo-hoo! It was my banana he stepped on!"

Willing to Learn. "Did you know that man was trying to sell you a gold brick?" said the irritated friend. "Yep," replied Farmer Cornutus. "Then why did you listen to him?" "Jes' wanted to see how the thing was done in case I want to go into the business."

Bad Enough, Anyhow. Robert, aged ten, was playing with the other boys on the corner of Nineteenth and Toga streets, when his mother, who had been listening to the conversation, called him.

"Robert," she began, in a grooved tone, "I never thought I'd hear you swearing."

"Why, I wasn't swearing, mother," the boy defended himself. "I only said the devil." "That isn't swearing." "Well," replied the mother quickly, "maybe it isn't exactly swearing, but it is making light of sacred things."

No Loungers. "Do any peripatetics come in your way at the office?" "Not much they don't. We have a lousy janitor who throws them kind of folks out."

Quite Fitting. "Hi!" said the tailor when his assistant brought back the badly made suit from his customer. "This, indeed, is my appropriate fate!" "How so?" asked the assistant. "It is," answered the tailor, solemnly, "a fitting rebuke."

A Genius. "What do you think of Scribner's poetry?" "It's poor stuff. He tries to rhyme 'mine' with 'time' and 'come' with 'sum.'"

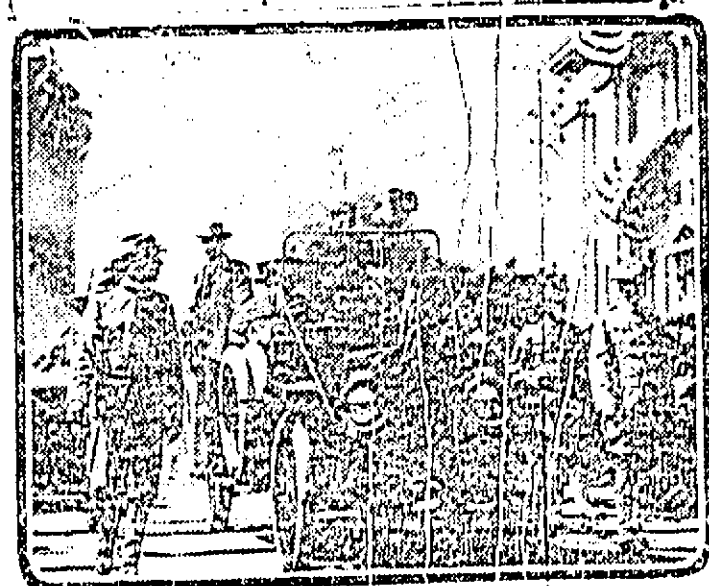

"Ah! That fellow was born to write a popular ballad."

Familiar. "I presume you were much impressed by the Orient, Mr. Hoffman?" "Well, not as much as I expected. I had already seen most of it in musical comedies."

IS PRESIDENT DIAZ SICK? DON'T LOOK MUCH LIKE IT.

The above photograph is the most recent of any of the many portraits of Mexico's president. It was taken on February 26 at the aviation meet, and shows him hale and hearty, energetic and keen of eye. The reports of his illness appear from this to be unauthentic.

SHAKESPEARE SAID

"Throw physic to the dogs." Of course Shakespeare lived in the days of castor oil and epsom salts and we don't blame him. In Shakespeare's time bowel laxatives like cascara were unknown; the world took physic and there was always war somewhere or lovesmaking. Pharmaceutical and chemical science of modern times has perfected bowel laxatives of just worth—laxatives that tone up, strengthen the natural action, stimulate the liver and assist nature. The very best of these are the Badger Pink Liver Pills, composed of cascara and other vegetable laxative and tonic remedies.

Pink Liver Pills do not contain phosphoryladium that new fad put up in sugar waters of pretty color. These waters have no curative properties. Pink Liver Pills are taken one at a dose and the dose is not increased but actually diminished after a few days, proving their worth as a curative agent in constipation. Try a box 25c. A strange tale of love and adventure in which a young American figures in many startling episodes in the East Indies, makes "The Bronze Bell" a story to be remembered.

RUSK WON FROM FORUM YESTERDAY

Forum Literary Society Has Defeated
In Seventh Game of Inter-Society
Series By Score of 25 to 7.

Yesterday afternoon the Rusk Lycium managed to cage eight more baskets than the Forum Literary Society at the high school gymnasium and thereby won the seventh basket ball game of the Inter-Society series.
As they now stand the Forum have won five games and the Rusk two.

The Rusk began the game with a dash which fairly took the Forum off their feet. At the end of the first half the Rusk led by the score of 21-1.
In the second half the Forum fought together and captured their opponents in all points of the game. Their efforts were nevertheless in vain.
The second half ended 4-3 in favor of the Forum. The only excuse the Rusk could give for their victory over the Forum was, that the goddess of "Luck" had deserted the Forum and made her abode with them. Prof.
Deers refereed the game. The feature of the contest was the free throwing by Prof. Vlymen and Rahr. The sum-total for their efforts so far in this series are as follows: Prof. Vlymen,
18 out of a possible 42; Prof. Rahr,
18 out of a possible 42. Although the Rusk Lycium have won two out of seven games nevertheless, through the game yesterday, they are able to show a greater total of points (83) than the Forum (78).

WOMAN'S PAGE

To Our Women Readers.

IT IS VERY evident that the women readers of the Gazette are interested in seeing this paper made the best possible medium for information that can be. Last Saturday the Gazette first published in this space a request to the women readers to express their views on the subject and so much interest has been displayed that it has been decided to increase the prizes to four, making the first prize a Caloric Fireless Cookstove.

The letters received thus far have been full of excellent suggestions as to the making of this page, and even other pages in the paper, more pleasing to the readers. There has been some confusion, however, owing to the list of subjects which were printed. The writers of the articles do not need to confine themselves to the subjects suggested, but can write on any phase of the paper's make-up that they may desire. The list is given merely to suggest a topic for you to write on.

Remember that each article must be plainly written on one side of the paper only and confined to about one hundred words. They must be in the Gazette office by April 1, and should be addressed to the "Feature Editor." If mailed, a two-cent stamp should be placed on the envelope to insure prompt delivery.

The Gazette is anxious to obtain your views on the subject of making its columns more interesting to you and all other women readers, so do not hesitate to express your individual opinions. The Gazette wants you to take a special interest in the paper you read daily by helping to make it more interesting.

Remember the prizes offered for the best four articles on this subject.

FIRST PRIZE—CALORIC FIRELESS COOKSTOVE.
SECOND PRIZE—$50.00 IN MONEY.
THIRD PRIZE—$30.00 IN MONEY.
FOURTH PRIZE—$20.00 IN MONEY.

Have your answers in the Gazette office as early as possible and not later than April 1.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON.

TO BE or not to be, that is the question. I wonder if I'll be considered absolutely hopeless if I "fess up" to a feeling I have long cherished without ever daring to give utterance to it before. And that is that I have never been able to have any great patience with the gentleman who uttered the above sentiment and who took five nets to make up his mind about something which an ordinary person would have decided in five minutes, and decided just as he did, at that.

Now, have I patience with the gentleman who uttered the above sentiment and who took five nets to make up his mind about something which an ordinary person would have decided in five minutes, and decided just as he did, at that.

There is nothing more thrilling than to be in the company of a person badly afflicted with this atrophy of the decision muscles.

I know a girl who once spent a vacation with a victim of this weakness, and she says she came home absolutely exhausted from deciding everything, from what Marion should put on in the morning and what she should eat for breakfast, to whether she wanted to go to bed early or stay up and write letters.

That last illustrates one of the queerest quirks about these folks. They don't simply ask other people's opinions on questions in which a third person's judgment and view point is valuable, but they help in decisions where the only doubtful quantity is their own need and desires.

To be so plagued that you never take advice on any subject is a weakness, of course.

But to be so lazy that you are always trying to make other people do your own legitimate work of making up your mind for you is as great a one.

Of course few people do this to the extent I have described, but every one is acquainted with people who have milder cases of this kind of atrophy.

"Look before you leap," is a good motto, but it doesn't mean to take a dozen looks and ask all your friends to look, too, before every little leap.

Learn to make all small decisions promptly and silently and not bother a busy world with questions you are quite capable of answering yourself and you will have acquired a habit that will strengthen both your judgment and your will power.

YOUR MOTHER'S OLD AGE.

Your mother in her old age? Have you ever thought about that? Have you ever thought about your mother's future even before she reaches old age?

All mothers that are mothers at all, are more or less sacrificing and yours no doubt is no different than the rest in this respect. Perhaps she has been wonderfully self-sacrificing in her efforts to raise you and give you your chance in life. What are you going to do for her after you get your opportunity and are established in life? Marry and leave her to pick her way alone through life?

Or are you going to think of her first as you used to think of you and as she thinks of you now? If you are you are showing the right kind of principles and proving your claim to womanhood or manhood.

Unfortunately it is the habit of young people to forget that life is just as sweet to those who have passed beyond youth or middle age as it is to the younger generation and that the elders are left to out their hearts out in loneliness and in longing.

A mother sows, keeps boundaries and does other honest things to provide for the children, an irreparable or absolute father will not. She gives her children every advantage possible. She teaches them to be good men and women and she builds her whole future upon them. They grow up. They enter upon life. They start off better than she had ever dreamed. One enters hopefully upon a professional life and another takes up something else with good prospects. And so it goes through the whole list.

attractive. She has come to a point where she need not work so hard. She can rest without depriving others of necessities or comforts.

But one day there is a discordant note. The son introduces the name of another woman into their conversation and the way he utters it causes the mother's heart to flutter with fear. And these fears grow. Then one day a new daughter is brought into the home.

She brings no love for the patient old mother. Only contempt for the work-marked hands. Extravagance dissipates all the mother's sacrifices and van. Then comes the breach between mother and son, and the mother goes her way.

Curiously enough the other children distrust every morsel of bread and every cup with the thought of dependence and the mother feels herself a burden where she should be the honored guest.

In this the history of you and your mother? It is history to write a new and brighter chapter before it is too late, for only a curse can follow those who neglect or abuse the mother who has made life a success for them or who has helped them lay the foundation of that success. And the bitterest hours they will ever know will come when it is too late to remedy the thoughtlessness and when reproach cuts into their souls.

Corollary of a Child.

During the course of a little sermon on morals at a Sunday school the instructor said: "An excellent way, children, when you are in doubt as to whether a thing is right or wrong is to follow the rule never to do anything which you would be ashamed to have the whole world see." I came from the school rushed one small pupil in high glee. "Mamma," she said, as soon as she found his mother, "I've never to take any more cold baths in chilly weather. Teacher says it's wrong."

When the chimney is burning out, throw a handful of salt into the stove or furnace. A piece of zinc burned in the stove or furnace occasionally will keep the chimney clean of soot.

When troubled with ants, use a sprinkling of tartar emetic around where they come in and it will finish their migrations. This is a poison and should never be used where any pet can get it.

When cutting butter from the brick, a nice clean cut can be made by wrapping the blade of the knife with waxed paper.

Matting will look better and wear much longer if it is varnished as soon as it is tacked down. Use a clear varnish and it can then be wiped and kept clean as easily as any varnished floor.

Add a teaspoonful of vinegar to rice while cooking or a teaspoonful of lemon juice and the rice will be white and the grains well separated when done.

Potatoes are better when baked if they are greased with a little lard before baking. They will bake quicker and the skin will peel off as thin as paper.

When cream will not whip, add the white of an egg and beat together. When suffering with earache, roast a raisin until hot and insert into the ear.

One of the New Bags!

The newest hand bags are quite small, doubtless in contrast to the mammoth ones we have been carrying. The favorite shape is oblong, about seven inches wide and five deep. The special favorites for spring are in colored leather in shades of mauve, apricot, blue, violet and red. They usually carry on the outer flap three small initials in gold or in a darker shade than the leather.

Most of these bags, though small, have on one side compartment for mirror and vanity case and on the other a place for handkerchief and cardcase. Others have a special chain so it can be easily pulled out in a crowd, instead of fumbling in a crowded bag.

Braised Lamb's Tongues.

The lamb's tongues should first be simmered in salted boiling water for an hour, then drained, skinned, trimmed and placed in a braising pan. Pour over them a pint each of brown and tomato sauce; add a quarter of a bay leaf, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a clove and sufficient salt and pepper to season. Cover closely and cook for two hours in a moderate oven.

OUTER SKINS INJURIOUS.

The skin of the apple should be chewed to a fine pulp with the rest and then rejected. It contains valuable nutriment, as the outer part of all fruits and grains do, but the extreme outer shell or skin of all is indigestible. If that of the grains is washed or scoured and ground very fine instead of being in large flakes as it is in bran, it is rather beneficial than injurious, aside from the nutriment it contains, but the tough skins of raisins, grapes, apples, and the fiber of vegetables are irritating and cause intestinal indigestion.

Further evidence is being presented almost daily that a certain compound of iodine and phosphorus is really proving a blessing to the abnormally thin men and women, for it cures weakness, builds up the system, and gives a regular course of three or four months' treatment being an increase in weight of from 10 to 20 pounds, with a decided improvement in color, and, of course, for self-administration the most popular form is to be found in three grain hypodermic tablets, obtained in sealed packages from the best apothecary shops, with full directions.

According to the Iron Age an alloy consisting of two parts of aluminum and one of zinc is equal in strength to good cast iron, does not oxidize or rust readily, and is of an even white color. ### Chicken Pot Pie

The Chef's Favorite

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

Some folks think that only "faded" mannikins can cook chicken, but a trial of this famous chicken pot pie dispels that notion. Every member of the family will thoroughly enjoy it.

1/2 Chicken Pot Pie, Baked Dumplings.
One foot cut in joints, 1/2 cup flour, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, black pepper, 2 cups flour, 3 level teaspoonfuls K. C. Baking Powder, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 1/2 cup shortening, milk or cream.

Cover the food with boiling water and let simmer until tender, then remove to a baking dish. Mix the 1/2 cup flour, salt and black pepper with cold water to a smooth paste and use to thicken the broth. Remove the fat from the top of the broth if necessary before adding the thickening. Pour this gravy over the food, until it is nearly covered, and reserve the rest to serve apart. Stir to gether the flour, baking powder and salt, three times; into this work the shortening and use cream or milk to make a dough, less stiff than for biscuits. Put this by spoonfuls over the food in the dish, which it should rest upon and completely cover. Let bake about 35 minutes.

When young tender children are served, this recipe is a good substitute for the more common "faded" mannikins. It is a most appetizing dish when served in the K. C. Cook's Book, a copy of which may be secured free by sending the enclosed certificate to the K. C. Cook's Book, 1234 Baking Powder to the J. C. Cook Co., Chicago.

"One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

When a rooster finds a big fat worm he calls all the hens in the farm yard to come and share it. A similar trait of human nature is to be observed when a man discovers something exceptionally good—he wants all his friends and neighbors to share the benefits of his discovery. This is the touch of nature that makes the whole world kin. This explains why people who have been cured by Allcock's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturer for publication, that others similarly afflicted may also use it and obtain relief. Behind every one of these letters is a warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to someone else. This remedy is for sale by the Holladay Drug Co., druggists, members of American Drug & Press Association.

Reparation

Frederick dug a stubborn toe into the floor. His fat, limp hand held his pencil loathingly. His brow was beaded with perspiration, born, not of labor, but of obstinacy.

"Now, Frederick," began Miss Burke, with conscientious enthusiasm, sitting down at the desk across the aisle, "let's draw a picture of a beautiful big dog."

A few more beads of perspiration appeared upon Frederick's flushed forehead and the hand that held the pencil became a shade more nerveless.

It was at three o'clock that Miss Burke had suggested gayly that everybody should draw the picture of an animal and let everybody else guess what it was. It was now a quarter past four. Each of the other children had executed the likeness of some chosen animal and then their short legs had trudged, trotted or skipped home with these treasures of art, but Frederick still sat before his small desk, motionless enthroned upon his brow and no slightest hint of the counterfactual presentment of any beast appearing upon the virgin surface of his paper.

Miss Burke spoke again, persuasively. "I'm going up to the platform now, Frederick, to arrange my desk all neatly for tomorrow, and when I come back I just know I shall find a lovely picture of a dog. Now, shan't I?"

Frederick spoke not, nor did he move during the ten minutes Miss Burke passed in inventing small duties in connection with the tidying up of her desk.

When she came down from the platform and stood before Frederick again, there was that in her voice which made him take his reluctant gaze from his paper and raise it to her face.

"Frederick Merriam," said the fifth-year persuasively, "I'm going to wash my hands and put on my wraps, and when I come back I expect to find a picture of a dog on that piece of paper."

She pointed a firm finger at the sheet before him and then turned away. When his teacher returned ten minutes later Frederick sat with his too dog into the floor and his pencil flung in his hand, but on the paper had appeared an outline in which an indulgent critic might have found a faint suggestion of a dog.

"We'll try to do better next time, Frederick," said Miss Burke. "You may get your hat and go now."

Miss Burke, passing down the hall a few minutes later, overtook her small pupil. "Good night, Freddie," she said with the magnanimous courtesy of the one who has had the heat of it. Frederick stared fixedly at the wall until she had passed. Then he looked vindictively at her retreating back.

"I'll go and make up her old desk," he thought. "Makin' me draw a picture of a dog!"

He turned back into the schoolroom and tiptoed up to Miss Burke's desk. Everything was put away inside the drawers except a few pencils and a ruler. Frederick threw the pencils on the floor, and then, taking the ruler between two chubby hands, he broke it across his fat knee. Then he tiptoed to the door and sped down the hall.

There was no rest for Frederick that night. His uneasy dreams were haunted by visions of angry Miss Burke threatening him with broken rulers and great paper dogs opening horrible mouths at him. Early in the morning he crept from his bed and went to the drawer where he kept his bank. He took the bank to the bed and shook it violently until he could hear nothing more rattling inside it.

Three bright Lincoln pennies rewarded his efforts.

Eight o'clock found Frederick, a hurried breakfast lying heavy upon his youthful stomach, standing before the showcase of the "school store," making a careful survey of its contents. After due consideration he selected one stick of chewing gum, done up in a piece of sky-blue paper fringed at the ends, one taffy-on-a-broomstick and one all-day sucker. With these deposited in a paper bag striped with purple he hastened to school.

Here he tore a sheet from his tablet and inscribed these words upon it: "Dear Miss Burke. Yours truly, Frederick." Attaching this with a desecrated pin to the paper bag, he laid it on Miss Burke's desk and, returning to his seat, buried his nose in his language book and awaited developments.

"Well!" exclaimed Miss Burke. "Somebody has been giving me a present. Frederick!" reading the name on the sheet of paper. "Why, how nice of you Frederick!"

Did she, as she took up the bag, give a fleeting glance at the broken pieces of ruler lying in a conspicuous spot on the desk, where the faultier had placed them?

"Chewing gum! Dear me, what a gay paper! Taffy-on-a-broomstick—and an all-day sucker, too!" She carelessly, and apparently without glancing at them, brushed the pieces of the broken ruler into her waste basket, while she arranged the contents of the paper bag in a row on her desk. "I love all-day suckers, Frederick."

Frederick's nose became firmly attached to a page of his language book, but he could not conceal the grin of gratification and relief which promptly overcame his flushed countenance.

"See! Ah! I glad I got 'em for her!" he thought.

Remember my Address In the Hour of Approaching Death

If you choose to run chances or suffer a while longer
Be sure to put this advertisement away carefully, for future reference, for the day will come when you or a friend will want me in a hurry

When taken suddenly ill many are scared half to death, through ignorance of the cause of disease, but an intelligent self confidence will make you hopeful, as soon as you have learned the cause of the attack.

I ask you to come and see for yourself. CONSULTATION IS FREE. Nature is bounteous in her gifts to mankind, yet those who knowingly, or otherwise, transgress her laws, laid out to make or retain perfect good health, must suffer until the cause of disease is removed.

On the other hand, there is really no limit to the power and potentiality that may be developed within the human body.

The best physiologists and metologists estimate that not over 5 per cent of the natural power of man is ever developed, unless special effort is used.

The source of this wonderful power is the nervous systems: brain, spinal cord and sympathetic. These are the sole motive or power plants in the human machine. Remember thought is but the power of the brain to review or bring to consciousness the effects of impressions brought to it by the senses: sight, hearing, smell, taste and touch. As with a phonograph, the sounds reproduced will be clear or confused as were the ones sent in. So the human brain cannot do its best work unless all the nervous system is normal. That is why our work is so essential. In the growing years, that every part of the body may be built so it will coordinate; in the busy moments of life, so every impulse may be made to count; in the eventful human's experience, when otherwise so many things slip one's consciousness, because of senility and failing powers. In fact, you never use our methods for a time and then discard them, because they are your "rod and staff" to aid you in this journey on the earthly plane.

In fact, if you can find a place in life where you can be half a human and yet accomplish the work intended of a complete man, at that time you do not need to bother me. Under any other circumstances come in, let me advise you how to become completed.
